My Dear Sir,

The photo has reached me safely, and I am obliged by your kindness. My first view of the painting last summer impressed me very much. It is a fine piece of work.

I judge from the printed description on the cardboard that you are prepared to sell the pictures as ordered. I think you could dispose of very many to High Schools, colleges, and the teachers of classics. Should you care to advertise by printed postal, you would find many names of teachers in Ginn & Co's Catalogue, Boston (formerly Gunn, Heath & Co.).

The work is so fine that I wish every such teacher and school had a copy, and I think it would be a paying investment for you.

With thanks for your kindness,

Yours Very Truly,
John Biggam.

OFFICE OF

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13th 1888Dec 15th declined

Charles M. Matthews, Esq.,
Secretary,
Croccon Art Gallery of Art.

Dear Sir:-

I would like the privilege of putting in the Croccon Art Gallery one of our Fancy Automatic Weighing Scales. These scales are made of rosewood and are highly ornamental. They are made for the purpose of weighing people and upon their dropping a nickel into a receptacle they will do so. We get our pay in that way. The scales are an ornament to any place and are now in use at Willards, National, Riggs, Arlington, and Ebbih hotels in this city. They are all complete and can stand on the floor any where and can be moved like a desk or any piece of furniture. They occupy a space of about two feet square. If after putting them in you should wish their removal I will do so at anytime.

Hoping to hear from you, soon,
I am, Very respectfully

M. F. Golderman.
